

Susan German – Design changes

- I added user controls:
 - Speaker control
 - Microphone control
 - Push to talk
 - Hands free talk
 - Switch user control
 - Share document
 - Whiteboard controls
- I added to the explanations on most slides explaining how the video chat would operate, and provided some justification for choices.
- I chose not to get rid of switch user control. This might be better accomplished through lock and unlock document. But, I believe that sometimes it is easier for one person to show another what they are trying to explain. Screen sharing will help accomplish that.
- I chose not to change how chats are archived. Since this is for a classroom situation, it is not a competition. Other groups may benefit for watching/reading another group's chat. In addition, it is important for the instructor in charge to try to monitor student learning. I agree that once several chats are archived, the archive will group by group number and arrange by date within groups.
